Verbatim's MediaShare Wireless Portable Streaming Device Now Available in Canada

Verbatim
Technology you can trust

Charlotte, NC, January 23, 2014 – Verbatim, the global leader in data storage technology including portable hard drives, USB flash drives, CDs, Blu-ray discs and memory cards, announces the Canadian retail availability of its latest innovation – the MediaShare Wireless Portable Streaming Device for Tablets and Smartphones. Stream media on your tablet/smartphone from your portable media storage devices, such as SD cards, USB drives or portable HDDs via a secure, wireless hotspot, wherever you are. Now available in Canada at the following retailers: Staples, London Drugs and Grand and Toy, the MediaShare Wireless retails for $69.99.

The MediaShare Wireless allows you to share and stream data safely and securely with up to 5 users simultaneously with password controlled access to stored and shared content. Users can enjoy different content on each of the devices, for the ultimate in flexibility. While the built-in USB port and SD Memory slot allows easy access to content from your USB drive, portable hard drive, external SSD, SDHC or SDXC memory card.

"The MediaShare Wireless gives us the ability to store more and share more media," said Mark Rogers, Verbatim Product Manager, Flash Memory Products. "As we use our devices more and more, a need for larger storage capacity, along with the ability to quickly share files has become more important and the MediaShare answers that need."

Wirelessly share media with up to 5 devices.

MediaShare Wireless allows for simultaneous upload, download and streaming. Also, because Verbatim MediaShare Wireless utilizes the capacities of your existing media storage, you'll never run out of space. Plug in your SDXC, SDHC and SD memory cards, and MediaShare allows you to access data from your portable HDD and external SSD, providing you with virtually limitless storage capacity.
